

In the `create_vqa_circuit` function, I first assigned the inputs via a feature map. The `ZZFeatureMap` was the best way to embed input parameters since it uses entanglement after rotating on the Z-axis to embed parameters.

I then added `rz` gates to rotate each qubit by a weight and I entangled both qubits after each rotation. The reason I chose Z gates was because of the observable.